BLM has a number of WEB based resources for Oil & Gas Operators on the public web site at:

www.blm.gov

You may link to the national oil & gas page by clicking on “what we do” on the left hand side of the page, then clicking on “energy” and then “oil and gas”.

You may also link to individual state oil and gas pages by clicking on “offices and centers” on the left hand side. Once in the state web page you can navigate to the state oil & gas page by clicking on “what we do” on the left hand side of the page, then clicking on “energy” and then “oil and gas”. State Oil and Gas Home pages all have the same format:

For example – The California State BLM Oil and Gas Home page is at:

You may reach any BLM State Oil and Gas Home page using the above address and replacing the “CA” for California with another two letter state abbreviation.

Once on the oil and gas home page for the BLM (national or state) you can navigate to a number of resource links.
