

Yes.

I think that property is perfect.

It's just what you and your husband have been looking for.

In fact, I have just been informed the buyers have reduced the price by $20,000.

This is a steal!

Sure.

Let me just log on to my office computer and pull that property information up for you, and we can go see it, say, around lunchtime.

Okay.

Boy this will be a great commission!

This is a perfect example of misuse of government property and time.

Employees are not permitted to use government property or official time in the pursuit of their outside business ventures.
