

5. Why is it important to deal with negative or unproductive students?

6. What room arrangement is best when students will be involved in large group discussions?
 - a. U Shape (Horseshoe)
 - b. Octagon
 - c. Triangle
 - d. Circle

7. There are several activities you have planned for your students that require group work and problem solving. What method would you select for arranging the tables and chairs to maximize the planned classroom activities?
 - a. U Shape (Horseshoe)
 - b. Formal
 - c. Circle
 - d. Chevron

8. _____, _____ and _____ are considered types of disruptive behavior.

9. How can you manage diversity within the classroom environment?
 - a. Demonstrate consideration or acceptance of various perspectives
 - b. Allow students to express their feelings and ideas
 - c. Consider diversity in learning styles and educational histories
 - d. a and c

10. A student grabs the arm of the student sitting next to him during a lively verbal exchange between the two. What type of disruptive behavior best describes this action?